

Every reservation holder gets a stand.

The order only sets who picks first.

5 paid stands per firearms season and 5 per archery season, on managed whitetail ground — not a lottery you can lose.

Reservations are paused until our Ray County permit is issued

HOW IT WORKS

1

Reserve a stand

5 stands per firearms season, 5 per archery season. Pay online, first come, first served. Paying reserves your stand — it is not a chance at one.

2

Order is set fairly

Every reservation holder is guaranteed a stand. Once a season's stands are reserved, an impartial random order sets only the sequence in which holders choose.

3

Pick your stand

In that order, each member picks their stand — on the hill south of the creek for every season except the November firearms portion, when the whole property opens up.

SEASON PRICING

SEASON	DATES	PRICE / SLOT

Exact dates are set annually by the Missouri Department of Conservation — confirm current dates before you buy in.

Stay on the hill — don't drop to the creek

The firing lane runs along the creek bottom, and losing elevation puts you in it. Outside the November firearms portion, hunt only from your assigned stand on the hill south of the main creek, and do not travel downhill to creek level while the range is live. In November the range is closed and the whole property opens up.

Members only, monthly or annual. Monthly members: dues must not lapse before the season starts, or the slot is forfeited to an annual member. Day passes don't qualify.

Reservations open with the club

Pay online; staff verifies membership after purchase.
